KELOWNA AREA? NO, IT'S VANCOUVER

No it's not Kelowna or any part of the snow-bound interior. It's a photo in Vancouver's Stanley Park. Vancouver, which rarely suffers from a surplus of the white stuff, is all of a tizzy over a heavy fall this week. Here workmen clear strained branches of snow to prevent a traffic hazard. Temperature in the Coast city was reported today to be 15 above.

Mr. K. On Top Once More In Kremlin Power Fight

WASHINGTON (CP) — United States authorities now believe the reported political struggle in the Kremlin has come to an end at least temporarily and that Premier Khrushchev has retained his position of strength under collective Communist party leadership.

These officials based their views on confidential diplomatic reports and on the fact that regional and local Communist chieftains have been brought to Moscow to learn how party congress decisions reached last October are to be interpreted.

Such a meeting could not have been possible they reasoned, unless the Kremlin forces had ended their differences and reached a conclusion on what policy to follow.

The fact that the Communist party newspaper Pravda had launched a new attack on Vyacheslav Molotov almost simultaneously seemed to American officials to indicate that the Khrushchev line had been retained.

MOLOTOV SURVIVES

Khrushchev last October bitterly condemned Molotov for his Stalinist views and Western diplomats concluded the onetime foreign minister would lose his second-rate diplomatic post in Vienna. Instead Moscow announced Molotov would return, although he still hasn't shown up in Vienna.

White American officials sense that Khrushchev has managed to retain his position, they suggest this hasn't resolved the basic cleavage between Russia on one side and Albania and Red China on the other. Albania and Red China maintain an aggressive war must be waged if capitalism is to be destroyed. Khrushchev is reported to believe the Reds can achieve the same goals through peaceful means.

U.S. Bill Aimed At Canada

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressmen of Washington and Oregon have introduced a bill to help the lumber industry in the Pacific Northwest meet competition from Canadian lumber mills.

Representatives Thor Tollefson, Jack Westland, Thomas Pelly and Walt Horan, Washington Republicans, and Walter Norblad and Edwin Durno, Oregon Republicans, introduced the measure in the house Thursday.

The bill would change a law which requires cargo shipped between two United States ports to be sent only in American flag ships.

S. Africa Sticks With Race Policy

CAPE TOWN (AP) — The South African government will not depart from its policy of racial separation no matter how great the pressures from the United Nations or other outside sources.

President Charles C. Swart said today in an address opening the new session of Parliament.

Cold Won't Let Up Yet

Temperatures are low in Canada and are expected to stay below normal during the weekend, the weather office said today.

Snow is reported on the ground in every part of the Dominion with the exception of Windsor, Ont., Halifax, and Vancouver Island.

Little snow is falling. There is an area of light snow in Alberta and flurries bordering the Great Lakes.

Low temperatures across the country reported this morning range from 12 degrees above at Vancouver with four inches of snow on the ground, to six above at St. John's, Nfld.

Witness Saw "2 Planes" Before Dag's Fatal Crash

N'DOLA (Reuters) — A witness today told an inquiry that he saw two planes over the Northern Rhodesia centre the night United Nations Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld was killed in an air crash near here.

Kankasa, secretary of the town management board in Ndola, said he "saw a large aircraft with lights and a smaller aircraft without lights above, both flying in a northwesterly direction."

"Then it seemed as if the smaller plane was beaming lights on the large aircraft which looked like a passenger plane," Kankasa said.

He said the two planes separated, the large one flying north-west and the smaller one north-east.

Nurse Joan Jones told the inquiry that she cared for American Sgt. Harry Julian, only survivor of the crash, for the few days he remained alive in a hospital here.

She said Julian, who was under sedatives and seemed to be in great pain, at one point said "Something about a spark he had seen in the sky."

The inquiry was set up to investigate the circumstances surrounding the crash which killed Hammarskjöld and 15 others as he was flying from Leopoldville to Ndola to meet President Moise Tshombe of Katanga.

ASSESSMENT CHANGE RESULT OF UBCM PLEA SAYS BENNETT

VICTORIA (CP) — Premier Bennett said Thursday that it was the Union of B.C. Municipalities which had urged the government to change its assessments formula.

"The UBCM asked us to revise our schedule of assessments and we took their advice," he said. "The government meets the will of the people."

He said a three-man committee, which included a member nominated by the UBCM, recommended the changes which are now being so strongly criticized by municipal leaders and ratepayers.

The government accepted the committee's recommendations.

"We only did what the municipalities asked us to do," said the premier.

Air Quest For Congo Killers

LEOPOLDVILLE — An aerial reconnaissance mission raised speculation today that Congolese soldiers responsible for the massacre of white missionaries at Katanga are heading back to Stanleyville and a possible showdown with UN and central government troops.

The UN headquarters announced it has offered the Congolese government every possible assistance in finding the rampaging troops who slaughtered and dismembered 19 white Roman Catholic priests and an unknown number of African civilians in the north Katanga town on New Year's Day. The UN said it would also help prevent further brutality.

An Indian pilot who scouted Katanga reported no significant concentrations or movements of troops and that the town's port facilities on the Lualaba River were deserted.

But the air mission revealed a large body of Congolese troops near the Kiwi province town of Kindu, 175 miles north of Katanga, where the Congolese soldiers butchered 13 Italian UN airmen in November before moving into north Katanga.

Polio Cases On Decline

OTTAWA (CP) — The number of paralytic polio cases reported in Canada dipped sharply in 1961.

Preliminary statistics made available today by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics showed a total of 186 cases reported across Canada last year compared with 909 the previous year.

Peaceful End "Possible" For New Guinea Dispute

JAKARTA (Reuters) — The chief of Indonesia's "liberation operation staff" for West New Guinea said today he believes a peaceful solution is possible in his territorial dispute with the Dutch.

Speaking after a meeting with President Sukarno and service chiefs, Maj. Gen. Achmad Yani said "we are still doing our utmost to find a peaceful solution for the West Irian (West New Guinea) issue."

He added: "Our policy remains unchanged — talks will be possible only on the transfer of West Irian from the Dutch to us."

Meanwhile, the Indonesian Navy announced it will conduct gunnery exercises up to 12 miles off Sabang in North Sumatra until Feb. 8. It said vessels not showing national colors, or ignoring signals, would be fired on.

The Dutch Thursday announced their willingness to hold talks with Acting United Nations Secretary General U Thant on the possibilities of reaching a peaceful settlement.

The announcement was made as a reply to a request by Thant that the Dutch and Indonesians avoid any "precipitate action."

In Jakarta there were unconfirmed reports that Russian-built submarines had arrived as part of Indonesia's multi-million dollar arms deal with the Soviet Union.

Under the deal, arranged last March, Indonesia has so far received long-range bombers, motor torpedo boats and gunboats and informed sources said a cruiser is expected to arrive about the middle of this year.

First Policy Statement By Fleming On Proposal

WINNIPEG (CP) — Finance Minister Fleming indicated today that Canadian tariff cuts can be expected if the United States and European Common Market take action on President Kennedy's "bold and far-reaching initiative" for major tariff reductions.

Effective solutions to the world trade problems raised by the Common Market "will require the collective efforts of all the principal trading countries," he said in a speech to the Winnipeg Canadian Club.

Mr. Fleming said President Kennedy's request for congressional powers to negotiate large mutual tariff reductions with the Common Market "is in line with the sort of solution to current world economic problems which we have been consistently advocating."

All members of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade including Canada, would benefit from lowered U.S. and Common Market trade barriers.

"It follows, of course, that countries receiving such benefits in substantial measure will be expected to make some contribution of their own."

SEES BIG PROGRESS

President Kennedy succeeds in getting Congress to approve his plan, and if European and other trading countries play their part, "I have no doubt that together we shall be able to make important progress in the expansion of world trade."

The speech contained the first public statement by Mr. Fleming on the new U.S. trade initiative and its implications for Canada.

He said, however, that elimination or reduction of tariffs must go beyond manufactured products.

"The special interests of countries such as our own will have to be taken into account."

"In particular, access will have to be provided for agricultural exports which now are restricted by a variety of non-tariff devices. Attention will also have to be paid to the needs of the less-developed countries."

"In working out solutions for these problems we stand ready to play our full part."

COULDN'T JOIN

Mr. Fleming repeated former arguments that Canada could not and should not join the six-nation Common Market.

Referring to British negotiations to join the Common Market, Mr. Fleming said the Canadian government has never doubted the determination of Britain to try to obtain necessary safeguards for essential Commonwealth trade interests in the British market.

But he added: "Even at best, Canada and other Commonwealth countries would have to face some trade adjustments should the United Kingdom join the Common Market."

JERUSALEM, Israel Sector (AP) — Israel spent a record $48,000,000 for 17 new ships in 1961. The government reports the nation's passenger and merchant fleet now totals 8,520 tons.

Two other RCAF aircraft, an Albatross and an Otter, will join the search later today.

The missing aircraft, a Luscomb, is turquoise with white trim and lettering.

Bill Gaede of Penticton Air Charter Service flew to the Pennask Lake area Thursday night and again today but found the lake "socked in" by clouds and was unable to land.

Gaede said he also covered the plane, piloted by David W. Kier, 49, of Penticton left Penticton Thursday on a local flight plan and with no specific return time.

Kier is said to have intended to fish in a lake somewhere in the area, possibly Pennask Lake 45 miles northwest of Penticton.

Two other RCAF aircraft, an Albatross and an Otter, will join the search later today.

The sudden end of two days of military-dominated junta rule touched off one of the ancient city's wildest celebrations.

Rafael Bonnelly, 57-year-old lawyer professor, was sworn in as president almost exactly 48 hours after he and three other members of the all-civilian state council were led out of the national palace as prisoners of the world-be military dictator and a civilian-military junta installed in their place.

Six of the seven members of the state council — most of them long-time opponents of the Trujillo dictatorship — emerged from incarceration or embassy refuge and resumed control of the government they first took up Jan. 1.

That cleared the way for Bonnelly to step up to the presidency in accordance with an agreement last month between Balaguer and the leading anti-Trujillo faction, the National Civic Union.

Young businessman Donald Read was named to fill Balaguer's council seat.

Arrested by his own troops, Rodriguez Echavarría sat glumly under guard in a waiting room in the national palace as Bonnelly was installed in the council conference chamber 150 feet away. Just two months ago the 47-year-old air force general had been a hero to Dominicans for leading the air force uprising that expelled the last of the Trujillo dynasty.

Six Slain In Algiers

ALGIERS (AP) — Six persons were killed in Algiers and Oran today as terrorism continued in the two largest cities of Algeria.

Two Europeans and a Moslem were slain in Algiers; and two Moslems and a Jew were killed in Oran.

In Bone a French postman was slain while making his rounds.

All of the killers escaped.

In Oran some 5,000 high school students paraded through the city with banners demanding protection for the schools. Other banners said "Algeria is French" and "The Secret Army to power."

The Secret Army is the right-wing European organization waging a terrorist campaign against Algerian independence.

Stamps Ban: Gov't Firm

VICTORIA (CP) — The provincial government will not budge in its determination to outlaw all trading stamp schemes in B.C.

This was the assurance given a delegation from the Retail Merchants Association after a two-hour conference with legal experts in the attorney-general's department Thursday.

"We're extremely happy," said RMA General Manager David Gilbert. "There is no question as to whether or not there will be a law forbidding these schemes. The question is how they are going to go about it."

Government lawyers now are studying ways of forcing three supermarket chains from continuing with trading stamp promotion schemes.

Attorney-General Bonner said he has received about 2,100 letters and cards concerning trading stamps. They were running in a ratio of 12 people against the schemes and eight in favor.

Quick-Change Dominica Has Another New Gov't

SANTO DOMINGO (AP) — A swift counter-coup led by his own officers ousted strongman Gen. Pedro Rodriguez Echavarría Thursday night and restored constitutional civilian government to the Dominican Republic.

The sudden end of two days of military-dominated junta rule touched off one of the ancient city's wildest celebrations.

Rafael Bonnelly, 57-year-old lawyer professor, was sworn in as president almost exactly 48 hours after he and three other members of the all-civilian state council were led out of the national palace as prisoners of the world-be military dictator and a civilian-military junta installed in their place.

Just two months ago the 47-year-old air force general had been a hero to Dominicans for leading the air force uprising that expelled the last of the Trujillo dynasty.

The state council's first act after returning to the national palace was to accept the resignation of Joaquin Balaguer, a Trujillo holdover who was president until the junta deposed the seven-man council Tuesday night.

That cleared the way for Bonnelly to step up to the presidency in accordance with an agreement last month between Balaguer and the leading anti-Trujillo faction, the National Civic Union.

Dief Thought Unlikely To Call Early Election

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker's government is in a position with its new legislative program to call a general election this spring or fall, but is unlikely to seek an immediate test at the polls, qualified observers say.

The prime minister's promise of increased old age pensions will need time for the cumbersome machinery of Parliament to carry out.

Having made the promise of official, the Conservatives will not want to dissolve Parliament for a general election without having it put into effect—unless the opposition gives Mr. Diefenbaker the opportunity of blaming it for any delay.

Other highlights of the throne speech promised fulfillment of a number of 1958 election campaign promises.

Three of these are in the field of parliamentary affairs, where Mr. Diefenbaker is acknowledged as a master practitioner, even by his political opponents.

WOULD REFORM SENATE

They include Senate reform, referred to in the official document simply as "a measure relating to the Senate." Senatorial sources believe it will be a measure for compulsory retirement at age 75, and hope it will apply only to new appointees.

Another is Mr. Diefenbaker's promise that in redrawing constituency boundaries on the basis of the 1961 census, Parliament should have the advice of an independent commission, rather than a politically packed Commons committee.

Mr. Diefenbaker had the personal experience of having his old Saskatchewan riding of Lake Centre merged with Moose Jaw after the 1951 census. Then he had to find a new riding, Prince Albert.

The third area of parliamentary reform is his promise, after the 1956 pipeline debate, to abolish the rule of closure which enables the government to curtail debate in the Commons. The new throne speech calls for this subject to be referred to a special Commons committee on procedure.

SEEK OPERATING DATA

Another promise made in 1958 was that foreign-controlled companies should be required to make public the extent of their business interests in Canada. This was first extended to include foreign-controlled unions.

Manitoba Farm Wives Demand Health Scheme

WINNIPEG (CP)—A trio of Manitoba farm wives have said Canada should have a national health plan compulsory for all.

Mrs. Olive Aitken of Glenella, women's president of the 19,000-member Manitoba Farmers Union; Mrs. Mary McIntosh of Hartle, past women's president; and Mrs. Margaret Oliver of Oberon, women's vice-president, said they had been deputed to present the union's formal request because farm wives were more directly concerned with health matters than their husbands.

The brief called for a national health plan administered by the provinces and financed largely through federal grants, coupled with personal premiums set at a level which can be met by all self-supporting citizens.

Chief Justice Emmett Hall, commission chairman drew the delegation's attention to the constitutional issue involved—health being primarily a provincial responsibility—and asked just what was meant by the term "national health plan."

Mrs. Aitken explained: A scheme subsidized by the federal government and "more or less uniform across Canada... offering the same opportunity to everyone regardless of his station in life or geographical location."

'NEED NOT WAIT'

Would it be necessary to wait until all 10 provinces reached agreement on a plan? asked the chairman.

"We didn't wait until all 10

SENIOR HI-LITES

By Carol-Anne Healey and Robbie Russell

The snow keeps on falling, the party for the students of Sunny-roads become slippery, and there is a snappy, crisp feeling in the air.

But, all this doesn't stop the many students of K.H.S. from coming to school both to learn and enjoy themselves. All clubs have again swung into action. They have all outlined their resolutions for '62 and are actively planning for the months ahead.

There is no report from Y-Tenis this week, but there is a rumour circulating that they are planning a "Big Valentine's Dance" for next month. More about this in the future.

SPORTS All rep teams from K.H.S. have been participating quite regularly in the last week. The girls' and boys' basketball teams defeated Kereomes last Friday in Kelowna. The girls' volleyball team won a tournament held at Doctor Knox Junior-Senior High School last Saturday. The boys' placed second in their competition.

Tonight, a large number of cheering students are tricking to Summerland. Their ambition and goal is to cheer the Golden Owls to victory. Good luck to them and the team.

For more sports news from K.H.S. read High School Sports every Saturday in the Courier. That's all for this week kids. See you next week for more about life at K.H.S.

NOT ACTIVE

Mrs. Crittenden, the sponsor of the future teachers, has been sick so this club hasn't been too active lately. However, they are hoping to send two delegates to attend the Future Teachers' Conference at U.B.C. The club is also planning an evening meeting next week when D. Wood will speak on courses for student education. Next month, they are having a Valentine

IMMACULATE INSIGHTS

by Sherry Baker

This week when I asked (and quite brightly, I thought for Monday morning) "Any news?" I was regarded with only blank and quizzical stares. So I figured that if the mountain would not come to Mohammed, he'd just have to do his own digging.

We're trying to be appropriately sad this week, but the attempts don't come off as planned. The reason for the sadness (well, what else would it be?) is that exams are marching our way again, and are more than three-quarters of the way along the trail. Despondency is ignored because—but that's another paragraph!

Have you ever watched a battle being fought successfully? Anyone in the newspaper business knows that, and we want him for that ability.

Thomson, asked if he thought it right to employ a royal personage in a battle for newspaper circulation, declared: "I do not think he is employed on that basis at all. If I had thought it was not right, I would not have done it."

Asked about the salary which the controversial appointment would carry, Thomson replied: "I do not know and if I did I would not tell you."

"I am not sure when he will start work," he told another questioner.

Commenting on recent newspaper criticism of the appointment, Thomson said: "I would be more concerned if there were criticism from the public, but I am certain that that is not prevalent."

Latest of a stream of comments from British newspapers came today from a Financial Times columnist who described the appointment as a "coup" for Thomson and said it would "guarantee the success" of the new color section of the Sunday Times.

HELPS FIGHT CROOKS LONDON (AP)—A photograph record to teach top executives of British business firms how to outwit criminals made its appearance today. The record is an hour-long lecture by a former detective sergeant of Scotland Yard, John Gosling.

Some of the veteran detective's tips are considered so good, and revolutionary, that the record has been classified an industrial top secret. It costs 10 guineas ($29.40), and it will be sold only to company chiefs who must pledge to keep it locked up and play it only to those concerned with security.

AID EARTHQUAKE VICTIMS TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian Red Cross Society Thursday announced a $10,000 cash grant to assist earthquake victims in Yugoslavia. A spokesman said the money was cabled to the League of Red Cross Societies in Geneva following an appeal in international appeal Wednesday for assistance.

KNOX TALKS

By KAY DAVIES

It isn't winning that counts. It's the way you play the game. Repeated losses will not be allowed to dampen the spirit of Knox's basketball team; not as long as our boys keep up their gradual but steady improvement.

Last Friday we were leading George Pringle 8 to 7 at half-time. Despite the good fight we put up in the second half, however, Westbank came out on top with a score of 22 to 17. Will we ever win? That's a common question around the school; and my answer is yes, if...

If the boys keep trying, if they keep practising, and if the rest of us kids back them up and urge them on to victory. Just three "ifs", easily overcome, and then what a great day it'll be for Knox High... the day our basketball team wins a game! Come on, kids, let's show those boys we're behind them every inch of the way. We'll back them up if they fill their end of the bargain and win a game for us.

On Saturday four other schools converged on Knox for a volleyball tournament. Great school spirit was shown by all present, from half past nine in the morning till three that afternoon. Kelowna High girls walked away with a first place, as did the boys from Winfield. Yours truly Knox emerged with the girls' third place. We had no representatives of the stronger sex there, though. (Apparently our boys have to devote all their attention to basketball!)

Noon-hours at Knox High are pretty well taken up by inter-house volleyball, with Fridays the only exception. On Fridays the Students' Council sponsors sock-hops.

These dances are becoming increasingly popular. It's quite a common sight to see various grades of students out on the gym floor living and twisting in their stocking feet. An occasional teacher ventures out onto the floor but soon retreats in the face of a veritable stampede of sock-hoppers.

PRINGLE PARAGRAPHS By Roland Whinton

This last week was quiet at George Pringle, highlighted by the arrival of "Operation Doorstep cards."

These little white cards are asking students to roll up their sleeves and be given a free T.P. skin test. Despite all the walling and gnashing of teeth the pamphlet states frankly that the test is simple and painless.

In basketball, George Pringle Sr. Boys played host to a Sr. Boys' team from Dr. Knox last Friday night. George Pringle emerged the victors after defeating the visitors by a score of 22 to 17.

The Sr. Girls and Boys teams from G.P.H.S. journeyed to Dr. Knox last Saturday morning where they took part in the second Volleyball Tournament.

The Sr. Girls won all the games they played except one, which they lost to Kelowna. At the last Tournament, held at George Elliot, the girls tied for top honours with Kelowna.

Hollywood Director Makes It Definite— Movie Here in April

Westbank Passes Bylaw

At a recent meeting of the Trustees of the Westbank Waterworks District a Tax Bylaw was passed, setting the rates for taxation at: $10 for Grade "A" lands; $11 for Grade "B" lands; $12 for Grade "C" lands; and $13 for Grade "D" lands; also that a discount of 10 per cent should be allowed on all taxes paid in full by the due date, and the due date for the payment of current taxes to be set at March 1st, 1963.

There will be a Court of Revision at the Westbank Community Hall on January 26th at 10 a.m.

AREAS CHOSEN

In a survey by plane Thursday Mr. Clavell said he selected the areas of Gallaghers Canyon, Rose Valley, Canyon Creek and the Greystokes.

He said it is quite likely that camera head Osmond Borradaile will come to Kelowna in the next two weeks to shoot some film while snow is still on the ground.

Mr. Borradaile's work would be integrated in the movie which is expected to take some five weeks to film. Mr. Maggini, who is also vice-president in charge of production for Commonwealth Film Productions Ltd., will return to the city in early March for logistic purposes, meaning he will prepare sets and numerous other items necessary to start filming.

CHIMNEY FIRE

The Winfield Volunteer Fire Brigade was called to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Holitzki at approximately 10:30 p.m. in four below zero weather on Wednesday.

On arrival the brigade found a chimney fire which was quickly controlled, no damage resulted.

DOUGLASS TO SPEAK

New Democratic Party Leader Tommy Douglas of Saskatchewan is scheduled to arrive at Kelowna Airport January 25 to speak at the Burns Banquet here that night and in Vernon Jan. 27.

"Precisely What We Want" Says Commonwealth Team

Hollywood director-producer-writer James Clavell has selected locations in the Kelowna area for filming of the full-length movie Circle of Greed starting April 15.

The announcement came today following a final study of the area by Mr. Clavell, co-producer William J. Maggini and story editor and publicity director Ernie Perrault.

"We're not just merely satisfied with what we saw. It's precisely what we want," said Mr. Perrault.

He added that Mr. Clavell found certain locations and various existing props that will make the film "even better than what we anticipated."

Mr. Clavell said he will proceed at once to design the movie to fit this area and plans will get underway immediately for the dispatching of cameramen, technicians and actors to the location by the first part of April.

He said he has not yet signed any actors or supporting actors but will issue a release immediately knowing who they will be.

In speaking of a large house, necessary in the movie, Mr. Clavell said he looked at one yesterday but it was not quite satisfactory so he will keep looking.

In any event, "We will definitely be here April 1 to start filming the movie Circle of Greed." He said that he along with other Commonwealth staff members will be in Kelowna many times before the actual filming starts.

City Man And Wife On Way To Work In Honduras Clinic

A Kelowna man and his wife are on their way this week to work in a Central American jungle health clinic.

John Dovich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dovich of Reid's Corner, is an X-ray technician and his wife, Luva Mae from Saskatchewan is a lab technician.

Both have volunteered to work at a clinic run by Dr. Stephen Youngbear deep in the mountainous regions of Honduras.

Mr. Dovich graduated from the Okanagan Academy and completed his X-ray course at the Branson Adventist Hospital in Toronto.

Mrs. Dovich graduated from the Canadian Union College at Lacombe, Alta. She took her laboratory technician course at White Memorial Hospital in Los Angeles.

With their tiny son, they are waiting for the passports before beginning the long trip south, 6,000 miles by car to the clinic.

Dr. Youngbear, a graduate of the Seventh-day Adventist Medical College in Loma Linda, California, has a medical practice in Texas. On a trip south into Mexico, he was impressed by the need for medical health services and established a clinic in Malmorosa, Mexico. On a subsequent trip to Honduras, he found an even greater need. He returned to Texas and founded the Pan-American Health Service.

Encouraged by the Honduran health minister, the doctor set up a second clinic just outside of San Pedro, fifty miles from any other medical help.

He mobilized his clinic by purchasing eight old buses from a transit company, one of which houses the X-ray equipment, another the operating room and still another, a ward.

The doctor treats an average of 900 patients a week and found he needed help.

On one of his lecture tours, he met Mr. Dovich who, with his wife, volunteered to join his staff.

TWO NEW RINKS FOR CITY SKATERS

Coinciding with Minor Hockey Week across the country, the frigid air provides opportunity to build outside skating rinks, something not too well known in the Okanagan because of the usually mild winters.

City work crews have built two rinks, using the cement floor of burned out Occidental packinghouse buildings, for use by city youth.

They are north on Ellis St. and one will be used for skating the other, larger, for minor hockey games. City Recreation Supervisor Jack Brown arranged for the rinks, and will contact minor hockey officials to let them know the rinks are available. City work crews are shown re-surfacing the ice with city-supplied water.

TENDERS ISSUED FOR CIVIC AUDITORIUM

Tenders were issued today for the construction of the Community Theatre, expected to cost some $90,000.

Tenders will be received up to 4:30 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 31. The building will seat 875 people and will have a stage opening of 47 feet wide, 25 feet deep and 19 feet high. Overall width of the stage will be 80 feet.

THIRD MAN FINED

One-Year Jail Terms Handed Westbank Pair

Two Westbank men charged with assault of an elderly Japanese were each sentenced to one year in jail.

Passing sentence in Kelowna police court this morning on Lawrence McDougall and Clifford Wilson after he found them guilty of the charge, Magistrate Donald White said the public couldn't condone such vicious attacks.

A third man involved in the assault, Walter Clough, also of Westbank, was found guilty and fined $200 or six months in default.

IDENTIFIED MEN

The charges arose following the attack on 74-year-old Chosaka Miura when the three men went to his home near Westbank to get some liquor which he refused to give them.

Testimony during the trial this week revealed Miura had suffered fractured ribs and a dislocated shoulder.

The victim in court identified McDougall as the man who hit him and Wilson as the man who held a knife at his throat.

NOT IN ATTACK

Clough's lawyer, Ross Sutherland, maintained the third man was there but hadn't taken part in the actual attack.

Appearing for McDougall was Patrick O'Neill, Crown prosecutor was Ross Lander. There were six witnesses including RCMP.

Magistrate White recommended the two men be sent to Haney Correctional Institute.

ALSO IN COURT

Charged with care and control of his car while impaired, Lorne Wildman yesterday afternoon changed his plea of not guilty to one of guilty and was fined $100 and costs in Kelowna police court. A two months licence suspension was also recommended.

Remanded to Monday for lawyers' argument was a case of alleged theft hearing of which took place Thursday afternoon in Kelowna police court.

Charged with theft of seven shirts from a Bernard Ave. men's wear were James Thomson and John Cathey. They pleaded not guilty.

Appearing for the pair it Patrick O'Neill, Crown prosecutor is Ross Lander.

Testimony included that of the store's owner, salesman and a neighboring men's wear store proprietor and salesman as well as two RCMP constables.

IMPAIRED DRIVING
A hearing is being held today in police court following a charge of impaired driving laid against John Stewart of Kelowna, Dec. 28. He pleaded not guilty. Representing him is Norman Mullins.

The charge was laid as the result of an accident on Lawrence Ave. involving Mr. Stewart's truck and a parked station wagon.

Arena Commission To Act In Advisory Way Only To Proposed New Group

Contrary to various reports, group the committee has decided the Arena Commission will not be acting in an advisory capacity following the formation of a Parks and Recreation Commission for the City of Kelowna.

Forming of a Parks and Recreation Commission, which is an identical body to a Civic Properties Commission, is expected to come about in the near future.

Following a meeting Wednesday night involving Mayor R. F. Parkinson, three aldermen, the arena commission and city comptroller D. B. Herbert, the group will now present its views to City Council.

IN FAVOR
Mayor Parkinson said today the Arena Commission is in favor of going along with such a plan and "will act only in an advisory way." There will also be a few other changes made.

Instead of having one member from each city recreation club, there will be two nominated from the Aquatic Association, two from the Arena Commission, one from the Parks Commission, one from the recreation commission and one City Council member.

The seven members of the new group would make all decisions such as budget plans and spending right down to hiring of an overall recreation superintendent.

The matter will now be brought before council for final approval.

CLARIFY MATTERS

To clarify matters, the Arena Commission will not be abolished but will act with the same number of members, two of which will be advisors to the new commission.

Only difference is that the arena commission will not make decisions.

F. Orme To Address PTA On Report Card System

F. ORME

Frank J. Orme, School Superintendent for School District 23 will address the regular monthly meeting of the Kelowna Elementary PTA on Monday night at the Central Elementary School at 8:00 p.m.

Mr. Orme has chosen for his topic "Our present report card system." This subject has been a matter of controversy throughout the province these last few months and should prove a most interesting and informative meeting.

Kelowna School District principals will recommend to the School Board in January that the system of letter grading students' marks, presently in use, continue to the end of the year. The letter grade system uses A, B, C, D and so on without relating them to percentages. These letters relate to the student's standing in comparison to those of the rest of the class.

Those attending will learn the facts, the why and wherefore, and pros and cons of the letter grading system as opposed to the percentage system.

Following Mr. Orme's address several groups will be formed for group discussion of the topic.

The February meeting will be in the form of a social gathering with a buffet style turkey supper being served. This is not a fund raising project but an opportunity for the members of the PTA to get together and to celebrate Founders Day in this manner rather than the regular programme and business meeting.

Parents wishing to attend are urged to make arrangements now as tickets are limited for this social meeting.

Valley Roads 'Fairly Good'

With little snowfall in the past 24 hours, Valley roads are in fairly good condition today. Slippery sections are being sanded.

Salmon Arm: Two above. All roads plowed and sanded.

Vernon: One below. Main road has bare sections, sanding slippery sections.

Abbotsford: Five below. Roads well.

Princeton-Merritt: 12 below. Roads are sanded.

Penticton: Six above. Roads mostly bare.

Revelstoke: 10 below. Roads plowed, being sanded.

Kamloops: 14 below. Main road has bare section. Sanding slippery sections.

George Elliott School Has Busy Time Ahead

Back to the grind fellow slaves! One of my New Year's resolutions should have been to do a little more conscientious reporting. However, I'll give you the general idea of what's going on at George Elliott at the present time.

From December to January 12 the Junior Red Cross had a "Wool Drive." The school as a whole collected about 290 lbs. — the winning class being Division Six. The Red Cross mascot, "Rags" will be presented to Div. Six at a future assembly.

This wool will be sent to the Inter-High School Conference on January 29 and then to Vancouver to be made into blankets.

The Future Teachers' Club hopes to visit the Winfield Elementary School in the coming week to "see how it's done."

The Glee Club does not have anything planned for the near future, but wishes the students to know that any new members are welcome.

FILM SHOWING

The Projection Club is going to show a film on Thursday, entitled "Between Two Wars."

The Annual Club is now selling annuals at noon for 75c. Students are allowed to pay as little as 25c down. Hurry and get yours now.

This Wednesday and future Wednesday, as well, if the venture proves successful, hot lunches with meat and vegetables will be served to students for only 35c.

On Monday, January 22 there will be a Sock Dance at noon hour in the gymnasium.

SKATING PARTY
The Council hopes to have a Skating Party at the Oyanam Rink on January 20. We hope all who attend will have a wonderful time.

House standings in the school are still rather uneven. Takulli Div. Six at a future assembly, has the top score with 254 points. Shuswap has 176, and even though Chilcotin won the indoor Track Meet (of course), it lags behind the others with only 151 points. Basketball is being played between houses this week and senior competitions create a lot of suspense among the spectators.

Speaking of sports, George Elliott's Senior Boys team defeated Immaculata in Friday's game. They were also victorious in Saturday's volleyball tournament at Dr. Knox High, placing first in the tourney. Keep up the good work, boys.

For this term four more names have been added to the Honor Roll. This makes a total of 30 persons with an arithmetic B or better average. You will probably have "them" before this is printed (and this may hit a sore spot), how are the reports this term?

Mayor and Aldermen Have No Sinecure

In another column on this page, in a letter to the editor, a reader comments on the "fuss and ado" of the inaugural meetings of various city councils. Rather than this "fuss and ado", he suggests recognition and banquets be given the "forgotten men" of the department of highways, the power and light utilities employees and the mailmen. His letter is interesting and outlines a point of view, but it does warrant some comment.

First, however, in order that there be no misunderstanding, let it be clearly understood, that this newspaper has the highest admiration of the men he mentions. Certainly they have their troubles and certainly they frequently have to work in most unpleasant weather. The majority of them, we believe, are conscientious and give an honest day's work for an honest day's pay. True, we are not all-inclusive in that remark but this is because we believe in any group, no matter what the occupation, there are some, a minority, who give as little as they can and expect the most; some just go through the motions. They, fortunately, are the minority. The average worker takes some pride in his work.

We quite agree that the men who work outdoors in inclement weather deserve a pat on the back. This of course includes all manner of workers: firemen, truck drivers, bus drivers, deliverymen, railway section men, and a whole host of others, as well as those which our correspondent specifically mentions.

It is, we think, necessary to point out when our correspondent mentions the department of highways, the power and light department and the mailmen that none of these are city employees and that if they are to be given a banquet, it is the responsibility of the provincial and federal governments. This statement is modified, of course, by the fact that the city does employ electrical workers, and men who work on the streets, but, as our correspondent writes from Winfield and as he uses the word "department" we must assume he is thinking of the provincial and federal workers. We do not see how these men can be linked to the "fuss and ado" of the cities' inaugural meetings.

And, speaking of banquets, there was no banquet in connection with the inaugural meeting in Kelowna, nor do we remember reading of any in any of the other valley cities. There has never been an inaugural banquet here, to our knowledge.

However, these are small points. The inference in the letter is that the mayor and aldermen have an easy task compared with that of the outside worker. "It is easy to sit in warm offices and tell others what to do."

We would remind our correspondent that it is not the outside worker who gets ulcers and who dies from heart attacks; it is the man who sits in the warm office and tells others what to do. His is the responsibility. If he is head of a company, the economic welfare of every single one of the company's employees rests squarely on his shoulders; on his decisions depends the job of some, or most or all the employees. It is no light responsibility. Making decisions is no light task. The man who works for an hourly wage can quit and go home with a free mind. The man who must make the decisions has his problems with him constantly, including the long and sleepless night hours. True, he sits in a warm office, but it is he who is on the "hot seat."

The mayor and the aldermen of a municipality are in exactly similar positions and even more so. In the first place they tell others what to do, because that is their responsibility and if things go wrong, theirs is the blame. They have a responsibility to the people who reside in the city to manage the city affairs in the best possible and cheapest manner. It is their responsibility to see that the city services are operated efficiently and that plans for future development are made. This is no light task. They have their regular council meetings, but this is the smaller part of their task. In Kelowna, it is doubtful if a day passes when an alderman does not have some committee meeting to attend. We have known three such meetings in one single day. In addition, there is the telephone constantly demanding attention on city business of some sort. Further, time must be given to listening to the complaints or the requests from ratepayers for information about some subject.

In addition these men—or most of them because there are few in any municipality who are retired—must operate their own businesses, must earn a living for themselves. In many cases the individual's business suffers while he devotes his time and abilities and energy to city affairs. To hold a public position in a city such as Kelowna is most demanding. It is done at a real personal sacrifice.

Obviously, we do not agree with our correspondent when he says "it seems to me that it does not take very much sacrifice to sit in nice, warm and well-heated offices to give out orders." We do not agree. We feel that our correspondent wrote too hastily, that he did not think the question through. This, perhaps, may be because he has had no opportunity to experience the headaches, the worries and the problems of the man who sits in the warm office and makes decisions.

The men our correspondent champions merit a champion, but the fact does remain that they are doing their own jobs; that they are earning a living on that job and it is probably the job they chose in life and they are paid for it. On the other hand, mayor and aldermen are doing a public service. True they are paid for it but it is a pittance which will not cover the expenses in connection with the position. Most certainly the recompense they receive in no way compensates for the worry and the time spent. Their reward must be much more intangible. It comes from the satisfaction of having contributed something to the welfare of their fellow citizens and their city.

If, when our correspondent said: "As after all these men are only obtaining something... mostly for their own satisfaction," he meant this, we agree with him. But we say "Thank goodness for these men." They accept public positions knowing it means work, sacrifice of time and money and, generally, abuse. Yet they take it because they have an inner compulsion to contribute something to their community. They do not take it in order to take home a pay envelope; they take it for the satisfaction of having been able to give something to their fellow citizens.

This newspaper does not always agree with them; nor with their decisions, but we are always conscious of the conviction that those decisions were made with the best interests of the city at heart.

In our opinion, their fellow-citizens are prone to give too little credit to the mayors and aldermen. This is not a callous disregard of their activities but rather it stems from ignorance, the lack of knowledge of just what it means to be a mayor or an alderman. They are, we think, generally speaking an admirable breed.

AFTER THE SHUFFLE — THE SAME OLD HAND

Psychiatrists in West Given 'Lower Rating'

OTTAWA (CP)—A sociologist from Western Canada said today that psychiatrists as a group do not enjoy "high prestige" in the eyes of other members of the medical profession and the public.

The statement was made by Dr. Robin Badgley, medical sociologist of the department of social and preventive medicine at the University of Saskatchewan, to delegates at the second Canadian Institute on Mental Health Services.

He said that in order to work effectively within the prestige system of the community, psychiatric services require to be closely allied with those individuals who have high prestige in the eyes of the public.

"General practitioners are such a group; psychiatrists are not," he said.

"Where general practitioners given a major responsibility for the care of mental patients and were psychiatrists drawn upon only when necessary as consultants, then I believe the treatment of mental patients would be more effective. The high prestige accorded to general practitioners could be capitalized upon."

MIGHT BE ACHIEVED
The objective of having mental illness regarded by the public like all other medical diseases might then be achieved.

Dr. Badgley said general practitioners and other medical specialists would not enjoy being told what to do "by a specialist which does not have high prestige in their eyes."

Dr. Badgley said mental illness was regarded as wrong and undesirable by the public. As a result the public tended to reject mental patients. Doctors, who were not psychiatrists regarded mental illness as deviant behavior.

Patients characterized as "gone nuts" or "crazy"; psychiatrists were thought of being "head-shrinkers, nut-crackers or queer quacks" who don't deal with reality. Likewise, mental hospitals were regarded as "looney bins or booby hatches."

Once Upon a Year A Space Ship...

NEW YORK (AP)—One year a space ship from Mars arrived on Earth. It was manned by a single Martian, operative Z-Y-125-X, whose assignment was to find whether the earth was advanced enough for Mars to consider opening interplanetary relations.

Here is his first report, sent via mental radio, to his command post on Mars:

"Trip uneventful and according to plan. After hiding space ship, I ventured into city. Found inhabitants unbelievably friendly and hospitable. Many were interested in my strange garb."

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Chest Taps Give Clues

By DR. J. G. MOLNER

Roving through my reading matter, I note that it is just 200 years since chest percussion was discovered—that business of "thumping" a patient's chest, a method of examination which still has its uses.

An Austrian, Dr. Joseph Leopold Auenbrugger, whose father was an inn-keeper, devised this method, inspired by having seen his parent rap on wine barrels to estimate the amount they contained.

A full barrel—or a chest cavity containing fluid—does not give the same resonant sound that is heard when there is a substantial empty space.

The physician thus not only can detect some lung ailments but can roughly ascertain the shape of the heart and its size, and while, of course, more precise methods are now in use, for general examination percussion remains very useful in finding cases which may warrant fuller diagnostic tests.

For readers who wonder why the doctor "thumps the chest," there's the answer. Incidentally, Dr. Auenbrugger ran into a great deal of criticism and abuse for announcing his discovery. Some rivals were jealous. Some probably were plain bull-headed. That has happened a good many times in the past.

Happily, the doctor lived to see his discovery adopted and praised, but before that happened, he was so violently criticized that he had to resign from his hospital staff position. Granted that new ideas often get a most rigorous going-over today—and that's healthy—I wonder if perhaps we haven't made some genuine advances over the years in our willingness to accept the new and novel, once proved.

Oh, yes, I'm familiar that as recently as about three decades ago, when early ambulation was first proposed and practiced, there was a threat to "denounce" the physician who originated the idea. The opposition soon evaporated in the face of fair testing of the principle.

There's an insistence on testing now, a demand that we be sure before we accept—but blind prejudice, in this regard, is vanishing. Yes, I think we progress.

"Dear Dr. Molner: It is my understanding that Vitamin A is the only one that can be stored by the body. What are the symptoms of Vitamin A poisoning? I have been taking 50,000 units a day for a skin condition—Mrs. S.C."

No, Vitamin A, B and D all are stored (B less than the others). Excess Vitamin A shows first by a yellowness of the skin, especially the palms and soles, with other disorders later. The amount you are taking might be described as "average maximum," so there is no apparent reason to be disturbed about it.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I am 23 and have four children, ages 5, 3, 2 years and 5 months. I wanted to be sterilized but everyone says I'm too young. The doctor gave me some jelly to use but seven months later I was pregnant. Could you tell me the name of a doctor who would sterilize me?—Mrs. E.M."

No, However, I do strongly suspect that you'd better go back to the doctor and ask for further instructions.

TWO DRINKS

Operative Z-Y-125-X sent his second message to Mars on Christmas evening. It read:

"A wonderful day. I wandered into one of the local temples—they are called bars. A friendly earth man said, 'Pal, have a couple on me.' I had two drinks of the ambrosia. It made me feel strange and big."

Immediately this message was sent to operative Z-Y-125-X by his Mars command post: "Satisfied your mission accomplished. Return at once."

And back flashed this answer:

"Not me. I like it here."

BIG CHANGE

On Jan. 2 operative Z-Y-125-X sent his fourth and last message to Mars:

"Earth has suddenly gone crazy. No one smiles. Everyone scowls. They hurry, hurry, hurry as if demented. They bump into each other rudely. The department store manager took away my Santa Claus suit, and told me, 'Beast it, kid.'"

"I had nothing to wear but my space suit and helmet. A policeman stopped me and said, 'What are you—some kind of a nut or something? I've got a good mind to toss you into the cooler.' Some children jeered at me."

"This is a frightening place. As soon as it is dark, I will board my space ship and return to Mars."

His superiors held a council and gravely decided it might be better to let the earth people grow up for another thousand years or so before considering interplanetary relations.

And that's why you haven't seen any men from Mars lately.

REPORT FROM THE U.K.

Canadian Youth Goes to Market

By M. McINTYRE HOOD
Special London (Eng.)
Correspondent
For The Daily Courier

LONDON — The first 100 of the 500 young Canadian youths sought by Garfield Weston, the Canadian millionaire food magnate, to help staff his 200 self-service grocery stores around Britain have arrived from Canada, and more are on the way. These young Canadians are coming in batches of 50. The first two contingents are here and have been happily assigned to their jobs in the Fine Fare Foodshops.

There is no hidden purpose behind this move on the part of Mr. Weston to bring young Canadians to Britain. There is no thought that they might be more aggressive salesmen using high-pressure methods such as are supposed to be used on the other side of the Atlantic. They are here because of the simple economic fact that the Associated Foods company, of which Mr. Weston is the head, could not find sufficient number of young Britons to fill all the jobs he had to offer.

sponded in the way that the young Canadians have done. The comments of some of these new immigrants from Canada, as they work in their stores, are interesting. Working in a Fine Fare store in Ryegate, Peckham, as an assistant manager, is 24-year-old Roy Chouinard, from Hamilton, Ontario. He once worked as a merchant seaman on Great Lakes vessels. With him in the same store at Peckham is his friend, Roy Chouinard, who worked as a baker until the early morning hours of work got him down.

SAVING RAY SMITH: "There is quite a lot of difference between shopping methods here and the way the supermarkets are operated at home. We work in one of London's largest supermarkets with a shopping area of only 10,000 square feet. But that is only about one-third of the size of the supermarket we were used to in Hamilton. And we miss the warmth. Our Canadian shops are heated to 70 degrees all the time."

SHOPPING HABITS

Roy Chouinard had some comments to make on shopping habits of the customers:

"Housewives buy a lot more chickens where we come from," he said. "They serve it two or three times a week as against the once-on-Sunday as you do in Britain. And it was odd at first to see how little tea is sold and how little coffee in proportion."

"Where here we sell sugar in two-pound packs, the Canadian housewife prefers to buy in bulk—five or 10 pound containers."

As for detergents, Roy finds that the packages labelled as the "giant size" in Britain are sold as the "small size" in Canada.

"The women here go shopping three or four times a week, I think," said Roy, "whereas our Canadian housewives get the week's needs in all at once."

Are these Canadians making good? Their supervisors think they are, and they want more of them."

Huge Rise Seen In BC Oil Output

VANCOUVER (CP)—An official of Pacific Petroleum Ltd. said today oil production in British Columbia will increase 1,000 per cent this year.

President John Getgood, describing the increase as "phenomenal," said output will grow to 30,000 barrels a day from 3,000 last year and added that it would grow to 60,000 barrels in the near future and eventually the entire 75,000-barrel-a-day market in the province will be supplied by B.C.-produced oil.

Speaking to a meeting of the B.C. Bond Dealers Association, he said under the national oil policy Canadian production is increasing at an average rate of 15 per cent a year, double the growth rate of the entire free world and more than five times the current rate of increase in the United States.

Mr. Getgood said there have been recent reports of spectacular natural gas discoveries in the Fort Nelson area of northern B.C. Intensive exploration and the likelihood of a major pipeline extension into this northern area, indicated that B.C.'s gas production promises to increase very sharply in the next few years.

In another talk, Kelly H. Gibson, Pacific's executive vice-president, said the major development boom in B.C. oilfields began after the construction of the Western Pacific Pipeline and Crude Oil Pipeline from the Peace River area to Vancouver. There now were 44 drilling rigs working in northeastern B.C. and new wells were coming in at a rate of better than 20 a month. There were 190 completed wells at the end of December and there would be 250 by the end of April and 300 by July 31.

"There is greatly intensified oil exploration activity all over this area, with virtually all the major companies investing heavily in new land acquisitions, in seismic work and wildcat drilling."

"It is reasonable to assume that in an area where substantial oil reserves have been discovered almost by accident in the course of exploration for natural gas, a great deal more oil is going to be discovered now that there is a market available for it and a long-needed incentive to develop the great oil potential of northern B.C."

Excerpts of their talks were released to the press in advance of delivery.

LETTER TO EDITOR

The Editor:

Lately I have been reading, and seeing pictures about all the "fuss and ado" regarding the inaugurations of the different mayors and aldermen, and the banquets and publicity. As after all these men are only obtaining something that they have been working so hard to get, and mostly for their own satisfaction, it seems to me that it does not take very much sacrifice to sit in nice warm, and well heated offices to give out orders, but I feel that it is about time that some appreciation should be shown to the real men who at any time, and at any place, and under very trying circumstances carry out the work assigned to them, by this I mean the "forgotten men" of the department of highways, the men of the power, and light department, and the mailmen, who all carry out their arduous duties, which we all take for granted.

I suggest that you, Mr. Editor, give these men a pat on the back too in your columns, as it is so easy to sit in warm offices and tell others what to do, and I sometimes wonder if our mayor and aldermen would like to change places with these doughy men who do the job. I think we all take these men for granted, and any to ourselves "Well, they get paid," but I doubt if any of us would like to have to put up with the terrible strain, and exposure to the elements as these fine fellows do, to give us the things that we so often take for granted, and I say "Thank God" for this great bunch of men, and I suggest that at the appropriate time it would not be amiss, to give these fellows a banquet in appreciation for their job "well done," and I am sure that this thought is in the minds of so many at this time of year. It would be interesting to me to know what other people think along these lines.

Yours truly,
G. EDINGTON.
(One who does appreciate these men.)

Deliveries of liquid petroleum fuels by Canadian refiners and distributors for consumption in Canada rose 4.8 per cent in 1960 to an all-time peak of 153,555,000 barrels from 146,800,000 in the preceding year.

There were fewer motion picture theatres in Canada in 1960 than in the previous year and the remaining theatres reported lower receipts. The 1,659 theatres in business in 1960 had receipts of $72,204,344 excluding amusement taxes. In 1959, some 1,740 theatres reported receipts totalling $75,512,974. Paid admissions fell in 1960 to 117,734,361 from 128,839,395 in the previous year.

ANN LANDERS

No Straps Use Hand

Dear Ann Landers: You did millions of young Americans an injustice when you pontificated in a recent column that children should not be spanked.

As a retired general in the United States Army I have had vast experience with young men. We could tell within a week which boys had been raised with discipline.

A strap, when folded, soundly applied to the posterior and thighs, never did a child any harm.

Many a volunteer is alive today because of the discipline instilled in him not by the Army, Navy or the Marines, but by a stern parent.

I hope no one will take your advice and spare the rod, Ann. The next generation has enough trouble in store without being a pack of spoiled brats 'boot. — RETIRED GENERAL.

Dear One Star: How did a man who can't read acquire your rank?

I clearly state that I am not opposed to spanking but I take sharp issue with you when you advocate the use of a "folded" belt. No child should receive a blow harder than the human hand can deliver — and nature supplied the ideal spot.

O.K. General, two days of K.F. for you — and don't leave the base for 48 hours.

Dear Ann Landers: Our 22-year-old daughter will be graduating from college soon. She has obtained a teaching position in this city and wishes to share an apartment with her college roommate.

"My husband and I don't know what to say. We feel it is not respectable for a young woman to live in a rented apartment when her parents are in the same city and have two spare bedrooms."

Frankly, we are concerned with what people would say although we have complete confidence in our daughter's morals. May we have your views? — PARENTS OF D.

Dear Parents: It's perfectly respectable for a college graduate, 22, who is self-supporting, to have her own apartment even though her parents live in the same city.

The mature girl wishes to be independent. A 22-year-old who lives at home could conceivably find independence virtually impossible.

Dear Ann: My husband's older brother passed away five years ago. His widow remarried.

Rena wants to be included in our family get-togethers as always. Of course she brings her new husband along. My husband says it kills him to see her with this guy. He gets a gall bladder attack every time the two of them show up.

Rena is well-liked by all members of the family and it doesn't bother anyone else. What shall I do? — BETWEEN FIRES.

Dear Between: If the sight of Rena and her second mate gives your husband a gall bladder attack, don't invite them to your home. Since you seem to like the woman, however, see her during the afternoon.

If the other members of the family wish to include Rena and her husband you should make no attempt to discourage them. Apparently your husband is the only one whose perspective is out of joint.

Confidential to MARRIED TO A SKUNK: You don't sound like much of a bargain yourself, Sweet-Pea. Quit using your children as weapons of war and ask a clergyman to sit down with both you and your husband and establish some decent ground rules.

NABOB OF NETMINDERS

Netminder Normie Schiman, of Vernon Midget Canadians, last night held the rampant Pentiction Midget team down to two goals, as it became an uphill battle for the local boys until they hit the score sheet in the third period. Time again young Schiman stopped the Peach City onslaught, who played a superior game despite the 2-2 final score.

See-Saw Midget Battle Ends in Game Tied 2-2

VERNON (Staff) — A see-saw battle between Pentiction Midget Vees and Vernon Midget Canadians, Thursday night here, ended in a 2-2 score.

For the hometown Canucks, it was an uphill fight for almost the full 60 minutes as the Peach City crew kept the game on their terms.

Pentiction went ahead at the 18:50 mark of the first when Morley Hayes picked a rebound from a wild scramble in front of the Vernon net and lifted the puck over the shoulder of sprawling netminder Normie Schiman. Gene Benner and Larry Palanio were given assists.

In the second period, it was Pentiction's Morley Hayes again who he slapped the rubber into the net at 11:10. Larry Palanio picked up his second assist on the play.

BIG DEFICIT
Facing a 2-0 deficit and well on into the third period, the Vernon boys fought back. They hit the score at 11:47 when Morris Wernicke snapped a rebound past Phil Stoochnoff who had just stopped a hard drive by Vernon's Billy Boer.

Less than a minute and a half to go, the Vernon crew put on the pressure. Pay dirt was found when speedy Dennis Taylor picked up a pass from George Watson and let drive with a hard one. Phil Stoochnoff managed to pull it down but only to have it dribble past him and into the net.

In the penalty department, referees Jim Stevens and Ike Colter handed out a total of ten minors with Vernon getting the nod six times.

Both goalies came through with some marvellous saves with Vernon net man Normie Schiman out-guessing the southern crew on more than one occasion and saving the day for his teammates.

Vernon now has a one win, three loss and one tie record in five starts in inter city midget hockey action.

Wide Ranging Subjects For BCFGA Meet

VERNON (Staff) — Next week, more than 400 delegates and guests are expected to converge on Vernon for the 73rd annual British Columbia Fruit Growers' Association convention.

More than 61 resolutions will be presented delegates dealing with everything from daylight saving time to erecting fences to curtail deer from the orchards.

Reports, now in the hands of the delegates, will be delivered on the convention floor, 21 in all from sales and management, Sun-Type Products Ltd., executive and manager B.C. Tree Fruit Ltd. and various committees reporting dealing with peach, apple, pear, soft fruit pooling, industry labor negotiating committees, and the cherry, plum and plum industry.

Expected to be discussed is Britain's proposed entry into the European Common Market and effects on the British Columbia fruit industry.

DISCOURAGED
Further plantings of miscellaneous varieties of peach and apricots is expected to be discouraged due to the comparative low return of certain apricot groups. It is also expected separate committees will be formed under the grades committee to review changes of

LUCRATIVE MARKET

Recent infiltration of the lucrative U.K. market by Italian apple growers is expected to come under hot discussion, as is the method of licensing in Britain and the quota system which allow Canadian apples on the European market.

Price differentials for processing fruit for Sun-Type and methods of establishing apple weights will be brought to the attention of delegates. The near defunct cider operation, undertaken by Sun-Type in 1957 will be thoroughly reviewed and it is expected vast changes in the alcoholic beverage field as it applies to the fruit industry will be recommended.

New Products Studied

New Products, currently under study or now on the market will be brought to the attention of growers by the management of Sun-Type. These will include new type-ple fillings, and a continuation of specialty products.

Quality control in soft fruits will be high on the agenda of convention delegates, and it is expected that such control will be extended beyond the present checking of weights and temperatures.

DON'T SEND SON TO ARENA, TAKE HIM SAYS HOCKEY GROUP

VERNON (Staff) — Though Minor Hockey Week across Canada gets underway tomorrow, Vernon and District will not officially celebrate until the Vernon Winter Carnival in February.

A spokesman of the local Minor Hockey Association said yesterday that plans are underway to hold a hockey jamboree on Feb. 22, when about 300 kids in the area will gather at Vernon Civic Arena to celebrate Canada's most popular sport.

Minor hockey is made up of six divisions, starting with Pups, ages 6 - 9, Pee Wee 10 - 11 years, Bantam 12 - 13, Midget 14 - 15, Juvenile 16 - 17 and Junior 18 - 20.

The first three divisions concentrate mainly on their own town leagues while the older lads play in inter-city leagues.

The Minor Hockey Association urges all parents to turn out to more games to lend moral support to the youths of the community. "Don't send, take your boy to the arena," is their motto.

Lumby's Lady Curlers In N. Okanagan Contest

LUMBY (Correspondent) — Lumby lady curlers have entered a rink in the North Okanagan playoffs which begins tonight in Vernon. Josi Martin has been named skip; third will be Gladys Duke; second, Hilda Lesmeister and Sheila LaFrancis lead.

Winners of this meet the winners of the South Okanagan to decide who goes to the Const. Eventually one rink will earn the right to represent the province in the Dominion Championship Bantam.

First half of the Lumby curling draw will be completed tonight although top rinks are already indicated. These are skipped by George Fisher, Bunny Derry, Maurice Mawdsley and Basil Edwards.

Alvin Dunn left for Brandon, Manitoba, Thursday to attend his father's funeral. The late Albert Dunn was 81 and had visited Lumby several times in recent years.

Thirty-two teams are entered in the Lumby Legion shuffleboard tournament. The event is being managed by boxing coach, Jim Jenkins, with proceeds to go towards the purchase of a trampoline for the Legion-sponsored boxing and gymnastic classes.

Golden Agers To Have Party

VERNON (Staff) — A party will be given tonight at the Vernon United Church, for the Golden Age Club.

Nick Malysz Of Swan Lake Dies

VERNON (Staff) — Funeral services were held this week for Nickol Malysz who died at Vernon Jubilee Hospital on Jan. 14. He was in his 70's.

Practical 'Under Sink' Waterproofing System

"RETLING" SPLASHBOARD
QUESTION: To waterproof the wall area behind the sink, under the window, I was considering covering this with aluminum foil, freezer grade. Is this a practical idea?

ANSWER: Perfectly practical but you may have a problem with satisfactory adhesion. However, new specially adhesive backed, aluminum "tiles" to apply to thoroughly cleaned surfaces, are now available in several metallic shades. Besides in kitchens, these can also be used on bathroom walls, around showers, even patching holes in roof gutters. (Available some hardware stores and mail order houses.)

SOILED CHAMOIS

QUESTION: I have a large piece of chamois skin which I use for wiping down the car. It is very soiled and badly stained; ordinary washing with lukewarm water and soap no longer cleans it. What do you recommend?

ANSWER: Several repeated washings may be necessary to clean the chamois using lukewarm water and plenty of mild soap. Don't rinse out all the soap suds, but leave some in the skin to keep it soft and pliable.

CHROMIUM CORRODED

QUESTION: Green corrosion has developed on the chromium faucet in the bathtub. How can this be cleaned off?

ANSWER: Wipe with ammonia. If not successful, rub with a paste of ammonia and scratchless scouring powder. Rinse with clear water and wipe dry. Then polish with good quality paste wax.

QUESTION: Recently a reference was made to "chrome paint for refinishing chrome plated equipment. Where can this be purchased?

ANSWER: "Chrome" paint is available at most paint dealers and variety stores; however, it is not used for "replating" the chrome fixtures—this must be done by professional replaters; the paint is just for touch-up on worn spots on furniture, etc. Does not have shiny chrome finish, but does pretty well.

FIREPLACE CHIMNEY

QUESTION: Is there a way to clean out a fireplace chimney?

ANSWER: Yes; but highly recommend having a professional do the job. Be sure to cover the fireplace opening so that falling soot won't scatter into the room. To clean the chimney: Lower a set or two of tire chains, swinging in circles to loosen soot on the sides, or put several bricks in a large burlap bag, then stuff the bag with crumpled newspaper or straw and lower this down the chimney.

New Kitchen For Old Can Be Tricky Business

Turning an old kitchen into a new one can be tricky, says the Canadian Gas Association.

Dinky, cramped kitchens with appliances that could qualify as antiques, present a real challenge. Provision may be made for working areas that permit efficient food preparation, cooking and cleaning up.

This is where the new gas ranges built to Gold Star standards prove a boon. The exciting new one-piece "compact" that looks built-in is ideally suited to kitchens where space is at a premium. They match standard counter height and depth to a T. Square sides and a low back-splash give the kitchen a clean, streamlined appearance. Controls are located on the cooking top or in front of the range. Most models are 30 inches wide, but a few can be had in 24-inch and 27-inch widths.

Another outstanding new gas range can be hung on the wall or mounted on a low storage cabinet. It supplies the perfect answer for women who want a built-in look without remodeling, or if the kitchen is too small for separate units.

Top-of-the-range cooking is done at a new 32-inch work height and four gas burners are provided. On some models the cooking shelf slides away when not in use. A separate side-by-side oven and boiler are located above. The control panel runs across the entire top of the unit at eye-level. Special cabinet work is not required other than the base cabinet on which the unit sits. Both 36 and 48-inch models are available.

BUILT-IN

The ever-popular gas built-in wall oven with separate surface burners is still another happy solution to kitchen remodeling. The beauty of these is flexibility of arrangement for maximum convenience and efficiency. The oven can be installed on one wall and the surface units on another. If counter space is limited, one convenient solution can be "drop-down" burners that fold away when not in use. The exciting new look also includes the familiar free-standing gas ranges. The trim, square lines of today's versions make any kitchen look re-done. They come in a wide selection of colors ranging from pastels to dashing black or red. Thus the kitchen can be as colorful as the homemaker wishes to make it.

Other advantages include a choice of from four to six burners, double ovens, oven windows, an oven and separate broiler or an oven and separate storage compartment. Free-standing gas ranges also offer the widest possible choice of sizes, from 18 to 42 inches in width.

Exchanging an antique stove for a modern gas range perks up the appearance of the kitchen and the morale of the cook. The new gas units are completely automatic and incorporate the newest thermostatic controls for igniting and regulating top burners, ovens and broilers. The new controls not only perform every type of cooking chore automatically, but take the guesswork out of cooking. The features women want most are built right into the range—griddles, rotisseries, clocks, timers, non-drip racks, super insulation, ease of cleaning, dependability and automaticity.

PRIEST DIES IN FALL

SUSQUEHANNA, Pa. (AP)—A 54-year-old Roman Catholic priest died of a broken neck Wednesday night when he fell from a tree he had been pruning in the parish cemetery. Stuart Holmer, Susquehanna county coroner, said the Rev. Donald W. Fallon, 54, pastor of St. Francis Xavier Church in nearby Friendsville, apparently lost his balance when the blade of the saw snapped.

Kalamalka W.I. Reports Heard At Jan. Meeting

OYAMA (Correspondent) — The Kalamalka Women's Institute have held their January meeting in the Oyama Memorial Hall. President Mrs. H. Somers was in the chair with 18 members present; a new member, Mrs. J. Stoddard, was welcomed.

Mrs. N. Allingham, social welfare convener, reported that two Christmas hampers had been given and were gratefully received, and she thanked the members who had contributed to these.

Sewing and knitting for layettes are again being undertaken with Mrs. H. Aldred and Mrs. T. Towgood in charge. Mrs. W. Sproule was nominated to fill the vacancy on the executive caused by a member leaving Oyama. Members were each asked to make a white tablecloth to cover a bridge table and bring them to the March meeting.

A lengthy discussion took place on the future of the institute. It was felt that an entirely new program was needed to renew interest, and the executive are to meet to draw up plans for the new year.

It is hoped that courses in sewing, bridge, home making and panel discussions can be arranged. The financial statement showed that they may have to curtail some donations this year.

A suggestion that the monthly meetings be held in a member's home, thereby saving rent was vetoed on the grounds that the Memorial Hall should be supported. They will continue to sponsor showers for local brides while financially possible.

Tea was served by Mrs. M. Tucker and Mrs. H. Aldred.

TEEN TOWN QUEEN ENTRY

What fellow wouldn't learn his ABC with a pretty school 'mama like this in the classroom. Karen Reimer, one of the nine contestants vying for the title of Queen Silver Star II, and sponsored by Teen Town, plans to enter UBC after graduation from high school and join the teaching profession. An ardent sports-woman, she is active in horse-back riding, water skiing, as well as the regular kind of skiing on Silver Star that is making Vernon famous. Sixteen-year-old Vernon-born Karen designs and makes her own clothes and enjoys hair styling.

Minor Hockey Week All Over Canada—Jan. 20-27

ERIC GREEN
Sports Editor

Some time ago, I received a fat little yellow pencil gratis in the mail from the Minor Hockey Association. Inscribed in black along one side was the order that it was "not to be used to cut minor hockey copy."

Since then, my pudgy little fingers must have fingered the fat little pencil lovingly a thousand times. Each time, I've picked it up and wielded it like an Excalibur I've waded into the reams of copy slashing, ripping, poking like a junior edition of Sir Lancelot.

But never, I swear, have I been liberal with the graphite where minor hockey has been involved. As the newspapermen used to say (some of the public are using it now), I've given them almost all the ink they have asked for.

Almost, but not all. I may have deleted a few commas, or ink smudges from the galleys of stuff they have shipped in, but nothing too outrageous.

Why haven't I?

Primarily because sport has become such a vital factor in our society — we are ultra-recreation conscious these days, and is "four feet high and rising" — and hockey is Canada's big sport.

DESIRE TO COMPETE

That is one reason. Another has something to do with the reason why the heartbeat of sport is the desire to compete.

I say there cannot be too much seriously wrong with a boy who is willing to turn out repeatedly for hockey games, play with spirit and accept the knocks the game deals them, getting up time after time to rush back into the melee.

They come early in the morning before most people are even out of bed to skate in the arena (I see them biking in one-handed, the other hand hanging onto a hockey stick with a pair of skates dangling).

All over Canada, young hockey players similarly inclined head for ponds, rinks — and out of 120,000 in the minor hockey movement, how many might ever go beyond minor hockey? A very small proportion. Only the very best.

EMPHASIS ON PARTICIPATION

The emphasis is not on developing professionals, but on developing healthy-bodied, strong-minded men. And hockey does it quite well, or is a great influence in that direction.

Americans are fond of saying Canadian youth takes to hockey like ducks to water. And it's true.

Locally, 454 boys participate in minor hockey activities in over 26 hours of hockey a week. Minor hockey started in Kelowna upon the completion of the Memorial Arena in 1948 and has been steadily growing each year.

Several Kelowna homebrews have ended up in the major leagues, and are presently participating in the professional side of sport.

EXTRA FARE

Hockey fans in Kelowna will be treated to a Pee Wee All-Stars exhibition game Saturday, Jan. 20, between the first and second periods of the Junior game. Kamloops Midgits All-Stars play here Sunday, Jan. 21, at 5:30 p.m. Sunday, Kelowna All-Star Pee Wees will play at Summerland. All-Star Bantams play at Kamloops Saturday.

MINOR HOCKEY WEEK

MONTREAL (CP) — National Hockey League president Clarence Campbell called for support Thursday for Minor Hockey Week in Canada, calling it an excellent program and wonderful work. He said the NHL and its clubs extend hearty endorsement of the program, started by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, and its member branches a few years ago.

LIONS MORE MATURE

VANCOUVER (CP) — Big Joe Kapp thinks the British Columbia Lions will be ready to hand out some knocks in the Western Football Conference next season. "We'll go into this season more mature and a little more familiar with each other than we were last year," says Kapp. "We took a lot of knocks but I think it's our turn now to hand some out."

Bing Crosby Tournament In Second Phase Today

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (CP) — Bing Crosby's $50,000 golf extravaganza headed into its second round today with a field of tournament-hardened professionals chasing two youngsters and an old-timer. The three leaders, sensational Phil Rodgers, 23, Joe Campbell, 26, and 52-year-old Chuck Condon, fired five-under-par 67s in the opening round of the 72-hole event Thursday. All three toured the Monterey Peninsula Country Club course, running 6,246 yards in length and with par 35-37. They were to tee off today at Pebble Beach, considered two or three strokes tougher than Monterey. Before the tournament ends Saturday, all players will have toured three courses—Monte Rey, Pebble Beach and Cypress Point. All are par-72 layouts. Despite their outstanding scores, the leaders held only a one-stroke margin over Jackie Cupit, Billy Casper, Mason Rudolph and Harry Umbhettl.

Battle Of Bulge Revisited Gamble Given Reduce Order

BOSTON (CP) — Phil Watson, who has been around the National Hockey League for quite a while as a player and coach, has revived a 12-year-old incident of torture — the battle of the bulge — to plague the newest arrival in the NHL's long-suffering goaltending fraternity.

Current victim of the device is Bruce Gamble, the pudgy netminder who stepped off a plane from Portland, Ore., and helped Boston Bruins whip Detroit Red Wings 5-3 Thursday night.

Watson, who coaches the last-place Bruins, showed his gratitude by giving the 215-pound goalie 10 days to shed 15 pounds.

"Gamble played a fine game out there but he's going to play even better," Watson said, explaining his ultimatum. The coach said he doesn't care how Gamble goes about getting rid of the poundage.

The last man to go through a similar ordeal was Walter Turk Broda, Toronto's portly goaltender of the 1940s, who was benched by Maple Leaf general manager Conn Smythe in December, 1949, with orders to lose seven pounds or else.

The Turk sat out one game while trimming down from 197 pounds to a svelte 189. When he returned, he blanked New York Rangers 2-0, stopping 22 shots, and stuck around to help Toronto win the Stanley Cup the following season.

Gamble moved up to the Bruins from Portland Buckaroos.

Young to Coach Bucks; Roche Signs With Omaha

Kelowna Junior Buckaroos, Moe Young started his hockey career in Regina. After three years in junior competition, he turned professional with Tulsa Oilers, a farm club of the Boston Bruins. Last and best season in the pro ranks was with Tacoma Rockets, where he scored 38 goals and 35 assists.

Young accepted a playing coach position with Trail Smoke Eaters at 24 years of age, and for two consecutive seasons was named the league's most valuable player, and selected to the first all-star team, both as player and coach.

Young moved to Kelowna in 1955, as playing coach of the Buckaroos. The following season he returned as a player until his retirement two years ago. Junior Buckaroos manager

THURSDAY'S FIGHTS

Sao Paulo, Brazil — Elder Joffe, 117½, Brazil, stopped Johnny Caldwell, 118, Ireland, 10. Joffe won undisputed world bantamweight title.

Yokohama, Japan — Kenji Yonekura, 118, Japan, outpointed Marcel David, 117½, Philippines, 12. Yonekura retained Orient bantamweight title.

KAMLOOPS (CP) — Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League are considering an invitation to hold their fall training camp in the British Columbia interior centre.

The Canadiens were invited to train here as part of the city's 150th birthday celebrations.

Vice-President Bud Fraser of the B.C. Amateur Hockey Association said in an interview Thursday that general manager Frank Selke of the Canadiens said the club is seriously considering the invitation.

A letter said Canadiens will send Del Wilson, their chief western scout, to examine arena facilities.

Portland Downs Nelson In High-Scoring Game

NELSON (CP) — Portland of the first period, 7-0 at the Buckaroos of the professional end of the second and banged Western Hockey League didn't in four goals in the final frame.

Bill Saunders led the WHL night as they whitewashed Nelson Maple Leafs of the senior amateur Western International League 11-0 in an exhibition match.

Except for occasional bursts by the Leafs, the WHL's southern division leaders dominated the game for the entire 60 minutes before a crowd of about 1,000.

Portland led 3-0 at the end of the first period.

Portland defeated Trail 8-4 in an exhibition Wednesday night.

Portland was short-handed for the game and borrowed three players from Trail Smoke Eaters of the WHL—McIntyre, Russell and goalie Seth Martin.

Minor Hockey Week Involves 120,000 Boys

TORONTO (CP) — Some 127,000 Canadian youngsters will take their regular spots on the lineups of their minor hockey teams next week.

But since it is Minor Hockey Week in Canada, they need more supporters in the stands. Theme of the week is "take, don't send, send your boy to the arena."

The celebration, which has the blessings of officialdom from the federal government down to the tiniest community, will include dinners, special church services and trophy presentations.

Throughout the country there will also be recognition for the volunteer workers who coach the minor teams. About two dozen of them will receive plaques from the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association.

Minor hockey has become an expensive operation. A survey by the Ontario Minor Hockey Association—largest body of its kind in the world—shows its teams spent more than $370,000 on last season's operations.

The figures indicate each of the 48,720 players registered in the 2,336 teams cost an average $12.20.

In most minor leagues the players pay to play, the most popular figure being 50 cents a game. And in most cases the team sponsors foot the bills for ice time, travel and playing equipment.

Howe Gets Mileage—No Wonder He Scores High

It's no wonder Gordie Howe is so profile a scorer in the National Hockey League.

A scientific study has shown he covers an average of almost five miles a game, a full mile more than anyone else around the league. He ran his record of 20-goal seasons to 13 in a row Thursday night but it went all for naught as far as Detroit Red Wings were concerned. They bowled 5-3 to the revamped Bruins in Boston before a crowd of 8,463.

In miffing a chance to pass New York's little fourth-place Rangers, the Red Wings blew a 2-1 lead to a club that had previously won only nine games all year.

Howe's 20th goal came in the second period on a power-play and gave him a lifetime total of 489 in scheduled play.

That leaves him 55 shy of the record production of Montreal's retired Maurice (Rocket) Richard.

In addition to his goal, Gordie also set up Vic Stasiuk for two tallies.

But the Bruins unleashed a three-goal outburst in the second period to take control. They got a two-goal effort from slini Don McKenney and hard-working Johnny Bucyk picked up a goal and a pair of assists.

Rookie Wayne Connelly and Murray Oliver rounded out the Boston scoring.

heavily into Sawchuk. The netminder fell to the ice and lost consciousness briefly.

The Bruins had Bruce Gamble in goal in place of Don Head and two new faces on the forward line. Larry Leach and Tommy Williams.

Gamble, Boston's regular netminder for most of last season, was recalled from Portland Buckaroos in exchange for Head.

Leach came from Providence Reds of the American Hockey League in a switch with Bob Beckett. Williams was up from Kingston Frontenacs of the Eastern Professional League in place of Terry Gray.

The Red Wings called up Parker MacDonald of Sydney, N.S., to replace the injured Howie Glover.

In game Saturday night, Detroit is at Montreal and Boston at Toronto.

Blades Are Cutting Deep Win Fifth Of Six Starts

Los Angeles Blades have accomplished more in the last two weeks than they did during the first half of the Western Hockey League season.

The Blades, playing before another large home crowd, downed Edmonton Flyers 8-5 Thursday night and made it five wins in six games.

In addition to taking a firm grip on the Southern Division's third and final playoff position, the Blades have won many new fans as a result of their streak.

The second largest crowd of the Blades' home schedule, 9,720, turned out Thursday night. This was surpassed only by a 10,000 attendance at the club's first home game this season—when Los Angeles returned to the league after an 11-year absence.

Wille O'Ree paced the Blades with two goals. Singles went to Neal Cheverlis, Terry Slater, Bruce Carmichael, Wally Herkesheimer, Don McLeod and Ralph Keller.

Ed Joyal had two goals for Edmonton, while Chuck Holmes, Forbes Kennedy and Don Gitz got one each.

Edmonton, Northern Division leaders, held a 3-2 margin after the first period but the Blades stormed back to move in front 5-4 entering the final period. They scored two of their three third-period goals in the last minute and a half of regulation time.

Indonesian Naval Chief Lost In Fight

JAKARTA (Reuters) — The Indonesian Navy Thursday announced that its deputy chief of naval staff, Commodore Jos Sudarto, was aboard the motor torpedo boat sunk by the Dutch last Monday and is believed dead.

The navy said Indonesian ships and aircraft were still searching the waters off West New Guinea and that Dutch naval vessels also were in the area.

The Dutch claim the battle started when an Indonesian boat fired on a Dutch Neptune aircraft over West New Guinea waters.

The Dutch naval commander in West New Guinea said the boat carried rubber landing craft and intended to put fully equipped troops ashore.

Snowfall in Vernon during 1961 was 49.6 inches, two inches more than the 33 year average.

QUIZ

Partner bids One Spade, next player passes. Both sides are vulnerable and you have a part score of 40. What would you now bid with each of the following five hands?

1. ♠95 ♥Q8612 ♦KJ3 ♣A65
2. ♠Q983 ♥AKJ4 ♦74 ♣Q82
3. ♠Q74 ♥AJ62 ♦KQ3 ♣AJ9
4. ♠62 ♥Q974 ♦J863 ♣J52
5. ♠K9632 ♥AQJ74 ♦8 ♣J4

1. One notrump. Without a part score, the normal response would be two hearts, but with it, the response is one notrump. This is because partner can readily pass two hearts with indifferent support for the suit, since a game contract has been reached—and our heart suit is simply not good enough to stand by itself. Normal bidding practices change when a side has a part score to lean on.

2. Two spades. The natural response, without the part score, would be three spades, but since a jump to three spades constitutes a slam try, only a single raise is given, of course, a two heart response is out of the question because that bid may be passed.

If the king of clubs were substituted for the deuce, we would then have a full three spade bid. It should be noted, also, that a jump raise to three spades merely indicates interest in a slam and does not constitute a forcing bid.

3. Three notrump. This bid is likewise not forcing, but it does strongly invite the opener to continue bidding unless he started with a minimum opening bid. The point count for a part score of 40 is usually 17 or 18. The bid guarantees strength in each of the three side suits as well as notrump distribution.

4. One notrump. Ordinarily, we would pass partner's spade bid because game appears too remote to justify keeping the bidding alive, but with a part

Castros Ties With Reds Hit

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Inter-American Peace Committee Thursday denounced Fidel Castro regime's ties with communism, subversive activities and violations of human rights.

The report said these factors are the principal cause of international tension in the Americas and constitute "political aggressions."

"Such acts represent attacks upon inter-American peace and security as well as on the sovereignty and political independence of the American states, and therefore constitute a serious violation of fundamental principles of the inter-American system," it declared.

Electricians Win Five-Hour Day

NEW YORK (AP)—Union electricians have won a five-hour work day and a pay raise from 125 of the 600 strikebound electrical contractors.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW

Tomorrow will be a good time for social programs and entertainment of every type. It is a day for happiness for good domestic relationships, romance and courtship.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY

If tomorrow is your birthday your horoscope indicates that during the coming year you should find many ways of effecting economies in time and effort; also of rendering better job service—which eventually will prove highly profitable. Your stability should be of great help in keeping you from going off on tangents when matters seem to progress slowly. You can make genuine strides in your career. You will be like the tortoise in the fable.

October and December should be exceptionally good months, job-wise. Personal relationships will be fine for most of the year with emphasis on romance and marriage in July and August. Look for good financial breaks in late December.

A child born on this day will be endowed with practicality and a sober disposition.

Liberals Capture Seat In Hard Ontario Election

TORONTO (CP) — Liberals party took one seat from the Progressive Conservatives, strengthened their hold on two others and put up a powerful battle in two ridings held by the Conservative government in five Ontario by-elections Thursday.

The opposition won Renfrew South, Conservative since 1945, in a close race that ended in confusion when the returning officer first declared the PC candidate elected.

The switch came shortly after 1 a.m. today when returning officer John F. Findlay said an error had been discovered in vote tabulation. He announced Liberal Leonard Quilty, previously declared beaten by Conservative Conlin Mulvihill by 65 votes, actually was the winner with a 135-vote margin.

Brant, a Liberal stronghold, remained in the fold by a landslide and in Kenora the party's slim majority in the 1959 general election was increased substantially.

*Liberal leader John Wintermeyer, jubilant at the trend, said recounts will be requested in the Toronto ridings of Beaches and Eglinton which the Conservatives retained in tight races.

The New Democratic Party, contesting its first Ontario elections since it was founded last summer by the CCF and the Canadian Labor Congress, ran third in all ridings. It produced a serious contender only in Beaches, where 401 votes separated the winning Conservative from the NDP candidate.

New Democrats increased their popular support, however, over their CCF predecessors of 1959.

Standings in the 98-seat legislature, to open its spring session early next month, will be Conservative 70, Liberal 23 and New Democrats five.

Premier Roberts was fighting his first campaign since taking over the reins from Leslie M. Frost late last year.

Reaction to the New Democrats' showing was mixed.

Provincial Leader Donald C. MacDonald, regretting the close defeat in Beaches, said he and his colleagues were "disappointed but not disheartened."

His party hoped to build from the foundations it had established.

Hazen Argue, House leader of the CCF - NDP group in the Commons, termed the results a "keen disappointment" except for Beaches. He added:

"It would seem that even in Canada's largest industrial province, labor has shown little inclination to support a labor party."

WRITING ON THE WALL

Writing on the wall of the former home of Gen. Raoul Salan, one-time leader of the secret army organization (OAS) in Algiers, gives the initials of the army and a crude drawing of Gen. De Gaulle being clubbed on the head. Meanwhile in the terrorized country the wave of terror mounts and violent death has become the order of the day for both Moslem and Christian.

Grim New War Concept Introduced By Scientist

WASHINGTON (AP) — The grim concept of an asteroid bomb — a continent-shattering weapon produced by diverting a tiny planet from its orbit so it would strike the earth — was introduced today by a space scientist.

Dandridge Cole of General Electric's missile and space vehicle department said such a cataclysmic weapon might be developed some time after 1970.

The theory involves using a Nova-class rocket to carry a crew of men or remotely controlled devices to one of the "close approach" asteroids whose orbits sometimes carry them between the earth and the planet Mars.

The idea would be to explode a number of hydrogen bombs on the surface of the asteroid in such a way that the tiny planet would be kicked out of its orbit and pushed toward the earth — striking with the force of several million megaton-type H-bombs.

In a report prepared for the eighth annual meeting of the American Astronautical Society, Cole said:

"The energy release at impact on the earth would be on the order of 1,000 times as great as the energy of a multi-megaton bomb which could be carried by the same Nova-class vehicle on an ICBM trajectory to the same target."

"This unusual weapon system shares with the biological weapons the possibility for masquerading as a natural catastrophe. The attacker could hope to escape blame and retribution from surviving retaliation forces."
